Expanded reference content for chatbot retrieval. Use authenticated channels for account-specific actions; verify live rates, fees, eligibility and policies before quoting.

Savings Account: Features, Access and Routine Servicing | Accounts

A Savings Account is intended for personal deposits and routine banking. Account variants may have different eligibility rules, minimum-balance requirements, service benefits and charges. Customers should review the terms applicable to the selected variant before opening or changing an account.

Customers can use eligible channels such as branches, ATMs, NetBanking and MobileBanking for permitted services. Digital access requires successful authentication, and transaction limits or service availability may vary. The chatbot must not disclose account-specific information until the customer has completed the bank-approved verification flow.

For a balance or transaction query, direct the customer to the authenticated balance/statement service. If a transaction appears unfamiliar, advise the customer to report it promptly through the official fraud channel.

Savings Account Opening and KYC | Policies

The onboarding journey described in this kit includes entering mobile and PAN details, completing Aadhaar-based e-KYC where eligible, and completing Video KYC where required. The customer must use an official HDFC Bank channel and provide information only within the bank's secure process.

KYC requirements depend on customer type, account variant, regulatory requirements and the bank's current process. PAN, identity/address information and additional documents may be requested. Do not promise that every account can be opened entirely online or within a fixed number of minutes.

If a customer cannot complete digital verification, refer them to the official support channel or a branch for the next steps.

Fixed Deposits: Booking, Payout and Premature Closure | Deposits

An HDFC Bank Fixed Deposit allows an eligible customer to place a deposit for a selected tenure. Available tenures, minimum deposit amounts, interest rates and payout options depend on the product and booking date. Rates may differ by customer category and can change without notice.

Before booking, customers should review the applicable interest rate, maturity value, payout frequency, tax treatment and premature-closure conditions. A premature withdrawal may result in an interest-rate adjustment or applicable penalty under the deposit terms.

The chatbot must not quote an old or indicative rate as a live offer. It should direct customers to the official FD rate page or authenticated booking screen for current terms.

Expanded reference content for chatbot retrieval. Use authenticated channels for account-specific actions; verify live rates, fees, eligibility and policies before quoting.

Personal Loans: Eligibility and Application | Loans

Personal Loan eligibility is assessed using information such as income, employment, existing obligations, credit history and the bank's internal policy. A pre-approved offer, if displayed to a customer, remains subject to the stated conditions and verification.

The source kit identifies salary slips, bank statements and Form 16 as possible documents for salaried applicants. Self-employed applicants may be asked for audited income-tax returns and business financials. The bank can request additional documents based on the case.

Do not guarantee approval, a particular interest rate, a disbursal time or a loan amount. Direct customers to the official application flow and explain that final terms are provided by the bank after assessment.

Home Loans: Property and Applicant Assessment | Loans

Home Loan applications involve assessment of the applicant's repayment capacity and the property being financed. Applicant checks may include income, employment/business profile, existing liabilities and credit history. Property checks may include title, ownership, approvals, valuation and legal or technical review.

The documents required depend on whether the applicant is salaried or self-employed and on the property and transaction. The source kit lists salary slips, bank statements and Form 16 for salaried applicants, and audited ITR and business financials for self-employed applicants. Property papers may also be required.

Rates, tenure, loan amount and sanction are subject to current bank policy and approval. The chatbot should never state that a loan is approved until the bank's official decision is available.

Credit Cards: Applications, Controls and Disputes | Cards

Credit card eligibility, credit limit, joining or annual fees, reward benefits and service features differ by card variant and customer profile. Lifetime-free offers may depend on specific eligibility or corporate tie-ups and must not be promised without confirmation.

Customers should review card-specific terms before applying. Card controls may allow eligible customers to manage transaction types and limits through authenticated channels. A lost card should be blocked immediately using an official facility or phone-banking channel.

For an unrecognised transaction, the customer should report the matter promptly through the bank's official dispute process and retain transaction details. The chatbot must never ask for a full card number, CVV, PIN or OTP.

Expanded reference content for chatbot retrieval. Use authenticated channels for account-specific actions; verify live rates, fees, eligibility and policies before quoting.

Digital Banking: NetBanking and MobileBanking | Digital Banking

HDFC Bank digital channels provide access to eligible account and service functions. Available features, transaction limits and authentication requirements depend on the customer's account, device, registration status and bank controls.

Customers should access NetBanking through the official HDFC Bank website and install MobileBanking only from the official app-store listing. They should keep devices and applications updated, use screen locks, avoid public or shared devices for sensitive transactions and sign out when finished.

If login fails, customers should use the official password-recovery flow or contact support. The chatbot must not collect passwords, OTPs, PINs or remote-access permissions.

UPI, NEFT and RTGS: Safe Payment Practices | Payments

Customers should verify the beneficiary name, account or UPI details and amount before authorising a transfer. UPI payments require the customer's UPI PIN for a debit; entering a PIN does not receive money. Customers should reject unexpected collect requests and never share a UPI PIN.

NEFT and RTGS are bank transfer channels. The available channel, processing details, limits and charges are governed by current bank and regulatory rules. The customer should review the final confirmation screen before authorising a transfer.

If a transfer is pending or disputed, check the status and account statement first. Avoid repeating a payment until its status is clear. Report a debit without expected credit through the relevant app or bank's official complaint channel.

Fraud Prevention, Reporting and Customer Escalation | Security

HDFC Bank customers should never disclose OTPs, PINs, CVV, passwords or other confidential credentials to anyone. Bank representatives should not ask customers to reveal these credentials over a call or chat. Do not install remote-access applications or follow payment links sent by unknown persons.

If a card, account or digital payment is suspected to be compromised, the customer should promptly use official bank channels to block or secure the relevant service and report the transaction. Preserve SMS alerts, transaction references and other evidence. Use only contact details published on the official HDFC Bank website or app.

The chatbot must escalate suspected financial fraud, disputes or requests for a human agent. It must not investigate by asking for secret credentials or promise a refund or liability outcome before the bank completes its review.
